What is DIGITALES

Digital storytelling describes a simple, creative process through which people tell a personal story using a digital means, such as video, image etc. Despite its popularity in the schooling of children and youth, it is less commonly used in non-formal adult education. DigiTales (Digital Storytelling for Participatory Adult Learning) was developed to provide useful tools for the creation of a non-conventional pedagogy, that of digital storytelling in adult learning.

During this project we will create (1) a digital training curriculum focused on adult educators to help adult learners with the use of digital storytelling, (2) an online platform to host training material (3) three digital story telling workshops to help adults create their own digital storytelling videos which they will be able to share it on the online digital platform, and (4) a DigiTales network encouraging anyone interested to be part of this network.

Who we are:

Aspire (Germany, www.aspireeducationgroup.com)

Eurospeak (Ireland, www.eurospeak-ireland.com)

RESET (Cyprus, www.resetcy.com)

How can you be involved?

- All adult educators can be involved to work with us to test the platforms.
- Adults will have the opportunity to develop their own storytelling videos using a range of different digital tools.
